1. Aims

This Policy informs the school's agreed approach to Personal, Social, Health and Economic (PSHE) education including statutory Relationships and Health education and non statutory Sex education(RSE) and sets out the intended outcomes for its provision.

At Sutton Green Primary School we believe that PSHE including RSE is an important and necessary part of the curriculum for all of our pupils.

The aims of our PSHE (RSE) education are to:

- Enable children to become healthy, independent and responsible members of their community and the wider society.
- Provide a framework in which sensitive discussions can take place.
- Help pupils to develop feelings of self respect, confidence and empathy.
- Create a positive culture around issues of sexuality and relationships.
- to teach pupils correct vocabulary to describe themselves and their bodies
- to help pupils to understand the importance of health and hygiene.
- to prepare older pupils for puberty.
- To link to our values and ethos:

At Sutton Green Primary School we recognise the value and equal worth of each child as an individual and the importance of nurturing every aspect of the child's personality – intellectual, creative, emotional, physical and spiritual. Pupils are encouraged to seize learning opportunities and achieve their personal best. The school is committed to raising standards and providing high quality teaching. The school offers a broad and well-balanced curriculum. We value a strong partnership with parents and the wider community. Together we prepare our pupils for their futures.

'Learn Together, Succeed Together, Achieve Together' is our motto, and our aim is to enable all pupils to develop their full academic potential and their social, emotional and well-being in a caring and supportive environment.

Encourage children to take responsibility for their learning, and roles within school life so that they take with them life-long skills

2. Statutory requirements

The Health and Relationships aspects of PSHE are compulsory as from September 2020 (extended to summer term 2021 for schools delayed by COVID - 19 pandemic restrictions. under the

Children and Social Work Act 2017, in line with the terms set out in statutory guidance

The exact requirements are listed in the DfE's Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (England) Regulations 2019 and are part of the legislation made under sections 34 and 35 of the Children and Social Work Act 2017,

We are not legally required to teach sex education but must teach relationships education.

3. Policy development

This policy has been developed in consultation with staff, pupils and parents. The consultation and policy development process involved the following steps:

1. Review – a member of staff pulled together all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance
2. Staff consultation – all school staff were given the opportunity to look at the policy and make recommendations
3. Parent consultation – parents were invited to read the policy and feedback to PSHE lead.
4. Pupil Voice- a group of pupils across the school were asked for their opinion on PSHE/RSE
5. Ratification – once amendments were made, the policy is shared with governors and ratified

4. Content and delivery

4.1 What we teach

As stated above, we're required to cover the content for relationships education, and health education, as set out in the statutory guidance (linked to above). in Key Stage 1 and Key Stage 2.

EYFS cover many of the themes in accordance with their curriculum. Early Learning Goals for Early Adopters- Personal, Social and Emotional development.

For other aspects of PSHE, including Living in a Wider World, see the attached curriculum map for more details about what we teach in each year/Key Stage. (PSHE Association)

4.2 How we teach it

PSHE is taught as a timetabled lesson each week.

Aspects of the PSHE curriculum are also covered in our Cornerstones curriculum. They are also taught as part of the wider school such as in PE, science, extra curricular activities, assemblies, whole-school events, charity theme days and local community links.

Teachers (or TA in teacher's absence) deliver the curriculum. On occasions we invite outside agencies to support and deliver some areas eg NSPCC, RNLI

We include all pupils in lessons, regardless of ability or special educational needs and/or disability

We believe that teachers should not let their personal beliefs and attitudes influence teaching if controversial topics or difficult questions from pupils arise. Where a teacher has a concern about their ability to teach certain areas of the curriculum without letting their personal beliefs and attitudes affect them they should inform the Senior Leadership team.

Teachers follow the medium term plans as set in the PSHE thematic Model for Years 1-6.(see Appendix 1) adding their own lessons and notes to their planning document if applicable.

Lessons will allow pupils to participate in discussions, debates and presentations. They are made aware of how to raise concerns whether it is about themselves, a friend or peer. When needed the schools designated Safeguarding lead and Deputy Lead are included.

Parents are informed of their child's participation in PSHE lessons in the annual report and can access the yearly overview on the school website on the class page.

Floor books are completed by each phase. The books show the Learning objective and evidence of the lesson eg photos, discussion quotes, written or pictorial work by pupils.

5. Accessibility

PSHE including Relationship and Health Education are accessible to all pupils, in particular those with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND). Teaching is high quality and differentiate and personalised paying attention to the SEND Code of Practice, in preparation for adulthood.

When teaching about LGBT content is integrated rather than taught as a standalone topic. teaching is age appropriate.

6. Right to withdraw from lessons.

Parents cannot withdraw their child from mandatory relationships and health education but can request their child be excused from any sex education outside of that taught as part of the science curriculum. Any request should be discussed with the parent and the process documented.

7. Roles and responsibilities

7.1 The governing board

The governing board will approve the PSHE policy, and hold the headteacher to account for its implementation.

7.2 The headteacher

The headteacher is responsible for ensuring that PSHE is taught consistently across the school.

7.3 Staff

Staff are responsible for:

- Delivering PSHE in a sensitive way
- Modelling positive attitudes to PSHE
- Monitoring progress
- Responding to the needs of individual pupils

7.4 Pupils

Pupils are expected to engage fully in PSHE and, when discussing issues related to PSHE, treat others with respect and sensitivity.

8. Assessment

DfE states in the statutory guidance for Relationships, Sex and Health education that “schools should have the same high expectations of the quality of pupils’ work on these subjects as for other curriculum areas”

Assessment in PSHE is not about grades or about passing or failing.

PSHE is assessed through:

- allowing pupils to reflect on their learning. They can judge whether they feel more confident, have a firmer sense of belief and opinion than they did prior to the particular lessons. Pupils should have time to reflect privately or through discussion.
- teachers being able to demonstrate progress and identify future learning needs.
- using baseline assessments eg Questioning, discussion, role play, mind map

We will refer to the PSHE Association ‘A guide to Assessment in Primary PSHE Education’ for further advice and guidance on assessment,

9. Monitoring arrangements

The delivery of PSHE is monitored by the PSHE Lead through:

Planning scrutinies, learning walks, monitoring of floor books and Pupil and Parent voice.

This policy will be reviewed by the Head Teacher and Subject lead annually. At every review, the policy will be approved by the governing board
